UNITED STATES ARMS CONTROL AND DISARMAMENT AGENCY
WASHINGTON

Ref: Reimbursable Agreement ACDA/NEC-FO/RA-81

October 20, 1969

Central Intelligence Agency,
Washington, D. C. 20505.

Attention:
Assistant Director of Finance

Gentlemen:

Recent discussions have been held between members of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) and the Field Operations Division, Weapons Evaluation and Control Bureau, of the United States Arms Control and Disarmament Agency (ACDA), concerning a proposed reimbursable agreement which will provide ACDA with aerial surveillance imagery interpretation support. Mr. Arthur C. Lundahl, the CIA Assistant Director for Photographic Interpretation and his Deputy have indicated their verbal approval of the project.

It is agreed that ACDA will make available to CIA of ACDA FY 1970 funds for this project. It is understood that these funds will be utilized by CIA to reimburse them for costs incurred by a CIA external contractor in providing ACDA the aerial surveillance imagery interpretation it needs. This being the case, under the provisions of 31 U.S.C. §§200 and 686, these annual funds will remain a valid obligation for any external contract awarded and obligated as of June 30, 1970. Any portion of these FY 1970 funds unobligated by June 30, 1970 must be returned to ACDA for deobligation under the regulations governing an annual appropriation. If the external contract is subsequently liquidated at a lesser amount, for bookkeeping purposes, the unused balance should be returned to ACDA for deobligation of the prior year obligation.

It is understood that in performing the work under this Agreement, CIA will, through its external contractor, undertake the work as described in the attached "Terms of Reference," which is incorporated herein and made a part of this Agreement. It is further understood and agreed that there shall be close liaison between the CIA and ACDA project officers in negotiating and monitoring the technical portion of the external contract awarded under this Agreement.

UNITED STATES ARMS CONTROL AND DISARMAMENT AGENCY

REIMBURSABLE AGREEMENT ACDA/WEC-FO/RA-81

TERMS OF REFERENCE

TITLE: Aerial Surveillance Imagery Interpretation Support

I. GENERAL

The United States treaty proposals relating to arms control and disarmament have often included inspection as a means of verifying compliance with the terms agreed upon by the signatory nations. To accomplish its field testing and study programs, the Field Operations Division, Weapons Evaluation and Control Bureau, of the United States Arms Control and Disarmament Agency (ACDA), requires a general aerial surveillance imagery interpretation support program. The following paragraphs set forth the requirements that are needed by ACDA under this support program.

II. SCOPE

Since ACDA has neither the personnel nor facilities to perform this work, it is desirable to have the aerial surveillance imagery interpretation services provided through CIA. This support will consist of analysis of [] imagery and expert assistance in assessing the capabilities and exploitation requirements of [] as applied to verification aspects of arms control treaty agreement. The Tasks to be performed under this project will generally include efforts in one or more areas of the [] scientific fields. The Tasks are expected to include the interpretation and measurement of various types of potential arms control targets, on classified imagery, as well as the determination of optimum specifications for [] imagery to meet possible future arms control agreements.

III. TASK ASSIGNMENTS

In performing the work under this support program CIA will, through its external contractor, provide the required personnel, fully qualified with formal training and experience, to perform the required in Section II, SCOPE.

As mutually agreed between the ACDA and CIA project officer, the ACDA project officer will assign specific technical analysis

Tasks by use of the Task Assignment Form, Tab 1. Each Task Assignment will specify the work to be accomplished and provide appropriate funding. The assignment of Tasks hereunder may include work of classified nature and will generally be within the following areas:

1. Performance of expert photo interpretation and/or photogrammetric measurement of classified imagery of potential arms control targets.
2. Design and apply to imagery precise measurements of imagery characteristics including, but not limited to, image quality, image resolution and image information content, to meet arms control requirements. 25X1
3. Perform specific studies of arms control imagery exploitation requirements, and make appropriate recommendations.
4. In support of the above, perform image reproduction and processing, and computer analysis of image-derived information.

Reports will be furnished as specified in the Task Assignment.
